For example, if you lived with your mother more than your father, you would count your mother. If you lived with your father instead of your mother, you would count your father. If you lived with both your parents for equal number of days during the past 12 months, you would count the parent who provided you the greatest amount of support. Support would included material as well as financial help. Material things include: cars, clothing, medical & dental payments, etc. If that parent has married or re-married you must also include the step-parent's information.

The $8,000 Award is advanced over a four year period in equal amounts each year and is subject to review prior to each award.
